The area is dominated by timberland and farms, with the county seat of Crawford being the small town of Roberta, just 12 miles away. ## SITE DESCRIPTION

Flint Forest has been professionally managed as a timberland property for several generations. Approximately two-thirds of the acreage consists of planted pines of varying ages, while the remaining land features beautiful old-growth hardwoods. The property has an extensive road network, complemented by multiple wildlife food plots scattered throughout. The topography varies from level and gently rolling hills to steeper inclines as the land drops in elevation, leading to three miles of Flint River frontage.

Wildlife game management has been exceptional, with the property hosting one of the longest continuous hunting leases in Georgia, maintained by the same family for 54 years. They have implemented Quality Deer Management practices, yielding impressive results. There is electric power available at the property's entrance; however, the owners and hunters have opted not to bring it onto the property, preferring the experience of "being off the grid" during their visits.

TAXES & TITLE

Flint Forest is owned by Timbervest Partners III GA LLC. The estimated ad valorem tax for Crawford County is $31,185. The land has not been enrolled in any Conservation Use Valuation or Forest Land Protection Program, which means there is an opportunity for the new owner to explore these options to potentially reduce tax liability.

Beautiful hardwoods and pines line Old Hollis Road.

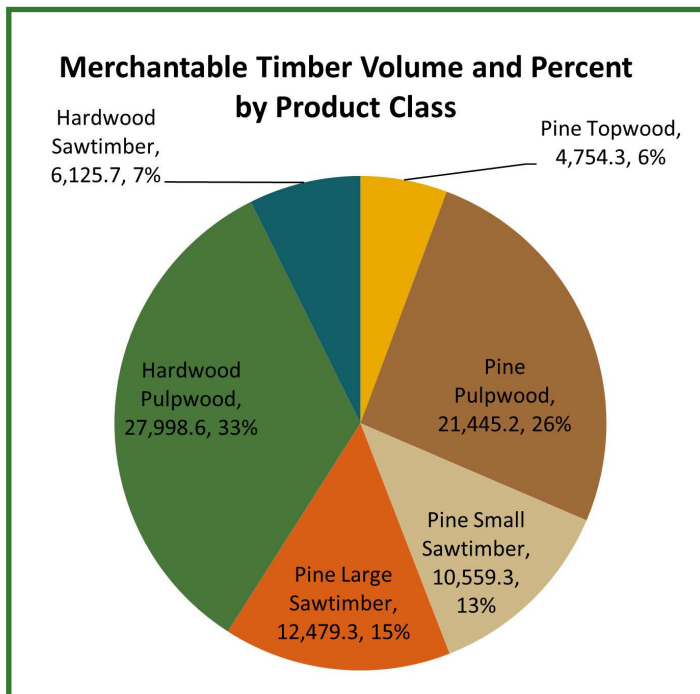

The older pine plantations are managed for sawtimber and poles.
